finest modern operas, and only for a small political difference. Yes political !! strange as it seems. But what have politica to do with art, and particisms with music?

It is Germania that I mean, that splendid opera that we had the happy chance of seeing staged two years ago, interpreted by celebrated artists ands at almoss, Garbin, and Santarelli, not forgetting Walter Carlo and Parison of the Santare of Germania and the speechanging somes.

and more interested in its errechanging somes.

Alexandria especially was enthunisatic. In severy control cosposition of Germanic and the "Guadeamus igites" was whistled by young and old. But then cause the reaction.

Some found themselves prigoed in their patriotism, operabilly by the last scene in which Napoleon's army is seen retreating before the Germans, and flow at their cottery, that such a piece could be played in a land like ours. I am 'some' and happily there were not many.

This year La Bellincioni will once more favorus with her presence! What a splendid "Rikles" she would be, and we as lived to see her in this part.

Let polities be polities and art remain art. One has nothing to do with the other.—I am Bir, etc.

of heads of department and inspectors itary officers, and comparatively young-with regard, now, to the future, I re the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan is the the future. What we have to do is to second municipations and create a system witin. Concerning communications we land of the fature. What we have to do is to improve communications and create a system of irrigation. Concerning communications, we are building a railway from the Red Sea to the Nika joining the Halfa-Khattoum railway about 30 miles south of Barber. This line is built by Royal Engineer officers, under the Director of Railways, Liest-Colonal J. E. Macanleys. Lord Corner refuses, colonal dissisted on correct the second of the control of the work. And, we succeeded! The lasty blacks, owe Islamt to work steadily, and romand at the control of the work.

blacks, formerly loaders and runaway alseve, have now learn to work steadily, and romaed Araba, who had never worked since time immenorial, gave a certain amount of help.

"The line, of over 350 miles length, will be finished, after two and shalf years work, and opesed next spring. We shall have two ports—Old Saakin and the new Fort Sedan, formerly called (Shaikh el Bangh'nb which will be a spleadid harbour. The straight and short defounds to the saw will enable us to export our products, such as gen, norn, cotton, etc. The cost of transport through Reynt is now too high, especially for heavy products, like gum and corn; and traders, although they pay avery low price to the cultivators, state that it is hardly a profitable business to export that it is hardly a protestee seems of the Red Sen-Stedan products.

"We intend, after finishing the Red Sen-Nile railway, to build lines to Kassala, Gerira, and Kordofan. Meanwhile, we are trying to connect trade centre by trum or day, and the sense of the production of the sense of the sense of the sense difficulty is the want of mooney, and the Financial Secretary, Colonel Bernard, has to be always on the lock out to meet the different demands with the mosoy he has at his dising other roads for animal transport. The only is the want of moory, and the formance in the good intentions of the formance in the moory he has a this disposal.

"More difficult than communication is the question of irrigation. Although considerable programs was made during the past year in the direction of prospecting for minerals, it believes the future of the foldan line in agriculture. Yeat areas are still monitivated, and a "plications by important compassion for permission to boy land for agricultural purposes have to be rafused, as we cannot grant them sight of permissi irrigation. Regret in all circumstances must be sure of getting the measure, and the surface of the surface of

He had only eleven followers—a very small pumber for such a position and his appearance was by no means the execution of a well-prepared plan, but the unexpected action of a loradic. The other cases was that a continually drenken shelikh and some natives of a Nuba mountain reforced to chey Government orders, and fred on a patrio.

refored to cley Government orders, and fired on a patrol.

"In both cases detacilinents were seen, and, after a short engagement and a few coanalities, order was restored. However much we ray regret such forcible measures, it is sometimes important to show that we are able to softered our authority, and that our orders have to be obeyed. Two cases are not many in a newly-conquered country consisting of eleven provinces, of which some are greater than entire countries in Europe. You will have idea and the Bodan if I tell you that one province out of eleven—Kordofax—is governed by some thirty British and Exprision officials, and covers an area greater than the whole of Prance.

"When I had to report officially on this subject, I wrote: Public security prevails, and, barring these two cases, Government orders have been and are carried out without any ensistance. The inhabitants of the Sddán are convinced that the Government is able to maintain peace and to enforce prompt eledience to its orders. "I concour with the general principle that we should be able to maintain peace, but this does not, to my mind, quite state the whole saes. Justice, sound political and fineal policyhacked by an adequate force, is the only way to govern the Sodan, or, indeed, any other country. I have but slight belief in the one

"The creat stateman was very right. Yee,

"The great stateman was very right. Yes, I am proud to say our Government is just and its justice is recognised by every living soul in the Stdan—by redentary natives and somes Advanbs. I never heard that even the losing party suspected one foor judges of having been influenced by private reasons in giving a decision or sentence. Never: They appeal often, saying that the judge has misunderstood the case—that individuals of bed character gave false oridence, or that they are able to prodoce new witnesses; but there was never a remark about 'nijustice." In the system of the natives our judges are all 'dispetter without fear and represch—as, indeed, they are.
